THE HEALTH CORNER

Can You Make Your Heart Younger?

How old is your heart? Health experts calculate your heart age by tallying up your risk factors for heart attack, stroke and similar health problems. The resulting number expresses how many years you've added to your cardiovascular system with habits such as smoking, eating unhealthy foods and being inactive.

About three in four heart attacks or strokes can be blamed on factors that increase heart age, health experts say. But it's not too late to turn back the clock. Do it by:

- Giving up cigarettes, if you smoke
- Keeping blood pressure, cholesterol and diabetes under control
- Maintaining a healthy weight
- Eating a healthy diet rich in fresh fruit and vegetables
- Being physically active

Short on time but not on heart health? Squeeze exercise into your life in small chunks. According to the Centers of Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), 10-minute bouts of daily exercise throughout the day can be just as healthy as on longer session. Every minute counts!
